

James Yu 余先生

James provides advice on Risk Management as it applies to business, health and safety in commercial and Government organisations.

James is a highly experienced trainer and fluent in Cantonese, Mandarin and English. He is a very effective operator at all levels of an organisation, delivering practical solutions to real problems associated with the implementation of effective Risk Management systems.

With the professional background in health and safety, he provides a framework for his role advising on complex risk management in organisations including medical, building, security, hotel and energy industries, etc. James' recent projects have included assisting development of training materials and managements systems for a major retailer, with global reach, so that it may compare and report disparate risks across its corporate and global registers.

James is a holder of BSc and MSc awarded in UK. As a HK-GD recognised trainer, he trains in Mainland China, Hong Kong and Macau and has further enhanced his professional studies in UK on many occasions. James also holds a certificate of UK OHSAS 18001:2007 Lead Auditor training.
